INTRODUCTION.

THE fifty-two Wills and Inventories, printed in this volume, were mostly copied from the originals at Chester by the late Rev. G. J. PICCOPE (a few having been copied by his father the Rev. J. PICCOPE), and with one exception, they occur in volumes 8 and 9 of the Piccope MSS., now in the Chetham Library, Manchester. They were omitted, probably from want of room, from the three volumes of Wills and Inventories, edited by the Rev. G. J. Piccope, and printed for this Society in 1857, 1860 and 1861. There are many very interesting wills among them, and several full and curious inventories.

In an Appendix is printed a series of abstracts of one hundred and forty-one wills, &c., the originals of which were examined at Chester by the Messrs. Piccope, but have been since then either lost or destroyed. Although these abstracts are very short, they give information which will be found of very great value to the genealogist, and which, owing to the loss of the original wills, &c., cannot be found elsewhere. These abstracts are taken from vol. 10 of the Piccope MSS. in the Chetham Library.

ing matter. To explain this statement it may be necessary to say, that the Will is the original, written in the most awkward handwriting that can be possibly imagined, a writing which must surely have been peculiar to the scribe himself. Indeed I have a suspicion that it was written by the testator himself, for I have seen some papers among the Orrell deeds in the late Mr. Charles Barrett's custody, as agent for the Turton property, in the same handwriting. In copying, it was necessary to decypher almost every word and letter, and I hoped that each next sentence would be more interesting than the former, but was ultimately disappointed.

that any mannor of pson shulde saye or doe to the helpe of my soule, further then I trust onlie to the pmysses of god, he that beleaveth and is baptysed shall be saved, and he y^t beleaveth not shall be damned Towching the buryall of my bodie I will (y^t order shall be used as I have leafte wrytte in A sedule) for it avealeth not what is donne soe^v thereto as St Augustyne sayeth de cura agenda p mortuis that the funerall pomps are rayther the solace of theym y^t lyve then the comfort or wealthe of theym y^t be deade And therefore I will have neyther Ringinge modemeate makinge banckatinge And towching the distrubition of my temporall goods my purpose is by the grace of god to bestowe theym to be accepted as the frutes of faythe soe y^t I doe not supposse y^t my merytte is by the good bestowinge of theym but my mearytt is the onlie faythe of Jesus Christ by whome suche workes are good according to the words of Christ I was houngrye and thou gavethe me meate &c. And it folowethe that yee have donne to the least of my bretheren yee have downe it unto me. And ever we shulde consyder the true sentence y^t a good work maketh not a good man, but a good man maketh a good worke, for faithe makethe the man bouthe good and rightous for as St. Paule saithe A righteous man lyveth by fayth, and whatsoev^r springethe not of faithe is synne, I confesse by the understandinge y^t the lorde haithe geaven me, y^t all benefytts, gracs, gyfts, indowments y^t ever I had or hereafter shall have bene granted me of the meare favoure of god for the w^{ch} I most hartelie thanke the lorde my god And as his owne I restore theym to him agayne, be my synnes, if I shuld goe before gods p'sence I weare utterlie damned, if I weare mynded to make satisfaction I could not, nor yeat any Sa . . . heaven, there is non whosse love is soe great to take my burthen of synne uppon him and s . . . for theym And appeace gods wraithe but Christ onlie, wherefore to him I bequeth all my syn[n]es I leave to him my pryde, veayne glorie, Ipocresie, dissimulacō, and lecherye, my unbelyf wyk . . . and imbesillitie, mistrust, envye, wrayth, wth all others my Innewmerable inyquyties, I make one fagotte of all my synnes bouthe p^osent, past, and for to come And geave theym all to my m^oeyfull sayvoure Jesus Christ havinge sure faithe and stydfast hoppe y^t he will accept them for his owne for he onlie haith satisfied uppon the crose for theym, and I knowe y^t god haith saved me by his m^ocy in the bathe of regeneration and renewinge of the holie gost whom he haith powered uppon me plenteouslie by Jesus Christ o^r saviour That I beinge maid rightous by his grace maye be inherytoure of ev^lastinge leife My beinge y^t is my devyne solle I geve to god my father, he gave it me and the holie gost p^oserved it by whose inspiracion and foreseight [I] have bene thrust forwards towards the feare of god from whom of myne owne will I wearè ever drawinge backwards, nowe seing I have leaft all my synnes to Christ and geven to god my being wth all other geifts and graces y^t ever he bestowed uppon me I . . . and wthowt ether good or evell and trulie to saye I am rayther nothing in y^t I have restowred to god my beinge y^t I had by gods devyne Inspyracoⁿ but because it is unpossible y^t . . . shuld save me wthout being, and yeat soe it is y^t he will save me therefore I take wth m[e] Christ my advocate weche is my lyffe soe that for possi-bilitie of my salvation I have a being but I lacke treasures to dis-

I Robert Rogers, Archdeacon of Chester and pson of Gooseworth in comitatu Cestrie Consideringe with my selfe the uncertayne and frayle estate of mans condition continuance in this lif creation and the time of his death ever doubtfull and not certaine, seeinge dayly before mine eyes many to departe out of this life intestate making no will: Being at this present (I prayse god therefore) of perfect memorie will and understanding, and also in good health of bodye, do make this present day being the xvij day of June, año dui 1580 my last will and testament in maner and forme folowing.

ffirst I yeald and bequeath my soule into the handes of God, who is the god thereof who hath geven the same and united it unto my body in most assured confidence and belefe beleving that all the siñes which I have in this wicked world comitted are forgiven mee through the crosse bloodshed and death of Christ Jesus y^e sonu of the pure virgin Marye; who was the lamb of god takinge awaye the sinnes of the whole world: And therefore among all the rest mine also, how great and many soever they be, I refuse my selfe and all the healpe of man and I looke for no other succour but to be saved by the merites of Jesus the son of god. Apocalypst. 1. who hath loved mee and washed mee from my sinnes in his blood.

Secondly I bequeath my fleash blood and bones my body to be buried in the earth Dñi est terra with decent buriall Christian like without all maner of pomp and supstition in full and perfett hope of the resurrection and union booth of body and soul in the day of Judgment whan god shall come to judge booth the dead and the quicke: psuading my selfe y^t afterward I shall see god my saviour in heaven and there abide with him in ioye for ever.

Thirdly concerning my worldly goodes and substance I bequeath them after this maner and no other.

After y^t my debtes be paied and my funirall expenses by mine executor discharged what soever shalbe remayning of all my goodes moveable and imoveable money plate Juels ornamêts leases tackes houshold stufe bookes cattle corn debts right of debts in remainder accompts claymes or interest or what soever is now due of right unto me or any waye forth may of right be due unto mee heareafter: All and every part thereof from one penye unto the whole what soever it be, I bequeath it unto Elizabeth Rogers now my wife whose name was before I married her Elizabeth Dean to her solely and wholly and to none other or others as freely and with as good a hart as ever God gave them unto me and in as ample maner as I can or may geve them: forbidding and excluding all other psons as well my children frends kindesfolkes as all others to make any clayme unto them or any part of them any way forth or to molest or trouble her. And if any shall move sute or molest her herein my will is that my goodes shall be spent in y^t cause And I am right hartely sorie y^t I have no more to geve her. My trust is in her that she will see my children and hers brought up in the fear of god.

ffourthly my will is that at my buriall (if it may conveniently be don) there be a sermon made by some godly wise learned man, wherein he is to exhort the people to prepare them selves towards heaven to despise this world to amend their lives and to repent and he to have for his paynes x^s Provided all wayes y^t this my will be acted and performed and fullfilled as my true and last will for there is [no] will made by mee but this only.

And of this my last and true will I make ordayne constitute and leave sole and onely executor Elizabeth Rogers my most dear and loving wife.

In witnes y^t this is true and my last will I have subscribed it with my hand written it with my pen and sealed it with my seall Año Dni 1580 the xvij daye of June.

THE WILL OF JOHN TILSLEY OF MANCHESTER,
CLERK.¹ 1684.

IN the Name of God Amen, the twenty fifth day of November in y^e year of our Lord God one thousand Six hundred Eighty and four, I JOHN TILSLEY of Manchester in the county of Lancaster Clerk being Sick in body but of perfect memory thanks be to God for the Same and calling to mind y^e uncertain Estate of this transitory life, I do make ordain Constitute and declare this my last Will and Testament in manner and forme following (that is to say) first and principally I Commend my Soul to Almighty God my Creator assuredly beleiving that I shall receive full pardon and remission of all my Sins by y^e precious death and merits of my blessed Saviour and redeemer Jesus Christ and my body to y^e Earth from whence it came to be buried in such decent and ¹ This will, which is not in the collection of the Messrs Piccope, was found among Canon Raines' miscellaneous papers, and seemed worthy of preservation in print. The parentage of the testator, who was a Lancashire man, does not appear to be known. He was educated at Glasgow University, where he took his M.A. degree in 1637. He was for some years curate to Mr. Alexander Horrocks, vicar of Deane, and succeeded him there in 1643. He was married at the Collegiate Church, Manchester, 4th January, 1642-3, to Margaret, daughter of Ralph Chetham, gent. His sons and some of his daughters died before their father, but the others and their descendants are mentioned in his will. He was a friend of both Henry Newcome and Adam Martindale, and lived much in Manchester. In 1646 he published a pamphlet entitled "The Lancashire Petition to Parliament." He died in December, 1684, aged 70, and was buried at Deane church, 16th December, 1684, as stated in the inscription on a stone placed to his memory there. His wife was buried there April 29, 1663.

THE WILL OF RICHARD SHERLOCK, D.D., RECTOR OF WINWICK, IN THE COUNTY OF LANCASTER.¹ 1689.

IN the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost Amen. The fourteenth daye of June in the year of our Lord God one thousand six hundred eighty and nine I Richard Sherlock Dr of Divinity of the Church of England Priest and Rector of Winwick being tho' far in years yet (God be blessed) of sound mind and perfect memory. And mindfull of the great account I must give up before the just Judge of the world of all my actions and injoyments in this present life In order thereunto I do make this my last will and Testament Revoking all other by these presents heretofore declared by mee either in word or writing. FIRST In all humility and godly sorrow for my sins, my many, very many sins both of my youth and riper age I do bequeath my soul into the mercifull hands of my dear Redeemer who offered up his innocent soul a sacrifice for my soul and for the many sinfull pollutions thereof. All which I humbly beg may be washed away through faith in his blood which was shed for them. SECONDLY

¹ Richard Sherlock was the son of the Rev. Richard Sherlock, rector of Woodchurch, in the county of Chester, where he was baptized 11th November, 1612. He was educated at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, and Trinity College, Dublin, where he took his M.A. degree in 1633. He was presented to Winwick early in 1660, and remained there till his death, being buried there June 25, 1689. His portrait is still preserved in the rectory at Winwick. He was never married. He was a voluminous writer, some of his works passing through many editions. (See Keble's Life of Bishop Wilson, Beament's History of Winwick, &c.)

As to this corruptible body of mine (when dead) that the stench thereof may not offend the senses of the living I desire it may be buried in such decent manner as by my executors shall be thought fit betwixt the Chancell and the body of the Church under a stone laid there for that end with this inscription upon the stone in Brass EXUVIÆ RICHARDI SHERLOCK, D.D. Indignissimi hujus Ecclesiæ Rectoris. Obiit 20^o die Junii Anno Ætatis 76. Anno-que Domini 1689.¹ Sal infatuatum conculcate. THIRDLY As to that temporal Estate of goods Chattells and debts that god hath been pleased to bestow upon mee I do order give and bequeath the same as followeth. INPRIMIS Instead of a Doal at my funerall I bequeath to the Poor one hundred and fifteen pounds To be thus distributed Immediately upon my ffunerall (vizt) To the poor of Winwick and Holme ten pounds. To the rest of the poor of the Parish of Winwick fifteen pounds. To the poor of Warrington parish ten pounds. To the poor of Prescott parish ten pounds. To the poor of Wigan Parish Ten pounds. To the poor of Leigh parish ten pounds. To the poor of Eccles parish ten pounds. To the poor of Wood Church parish in Werrall twenty pounds. To the poor of the Citty of Chester twenty pounds In all one hundred and fifteen pounds. And towards the finishing of the ffree school of Warrington I give ffive pounds. My WILL and mind is that all sums of money that have by mee been laid out for the poors stock of bread and are concluded Irrecoverable shall be paid by my executors, So that all given and laid out for that use by mee and others be made Three hundred pounds compleat to be layd upon land for the use of the poor for ever. ITEM to my Cousen²

¹ Lest it should be thought that Dr. Sherlock had prophesied the exact date of his death, it should be stated that a careful examination of the original will, still preserved at Chester, shows that the figures 20, 76, and 1689, and the word "Junii," have been filled in after the will was written. The ink in which they are written is darker than the rest of the will.

² He is said to be nephew to the testator in the inventory.

Thomas Sherlock I do freely give him his bond of twenty five pounds which he owes unto mee. To Anne his now wife five pounds, Amongst all his children fifty pounds Twenty pounds whereof to my godson John, and to Henry, Thomas, and Cicely Ten pounds a piece which must be paid At or before they come to age as my Executors shall think fit. Moreover for my godson John Sherlock I order that the Lease be renewed for Hunts house in Oxton, and that he succeed his ffather in it. ITEM I do bequeath to my Cousen William Sherlock of Oxton in Werrall ten pounds, But my executors are to clear the rent of his house therewith for one year. And I give to his now wife fifty shillings, And hereby I order that the Lease for Oxton house be renewed for the use and behoof of Richard Sherlock his son, and that the Debts intrusted with Mr Crane and Mr Willett be employed for the taking of the said lease. Howbeit my will is that William Sherlock the father shall injoy it whilst he payes duely the Lords rent which is ten pounds per Annum, And that fifty pounds be put forth for the use and benefitt of William Sherlocks children, his son Richard and the rest proportionably to be paid At or before they come to their age as my executors shall think best. ITEM I give to my Cousen Richard Sherlock of Oxford Twenty pounds and ten pounds amongst his children in all Thirty pounds. ITEM I give to Samuall Aynsworth my Steward Twenty pounds and to Mary his wife Thirty pounds and to each of his children five pounds a piece. ITEM I give to my brothers Nathaniell and Jonathan Wilson and to my Cousen John Wilson of Williston to each ten pounds (vizt) thirty pounds in all to be bestowed amongst their respective children. And moreover To my nephew Thomas Wilson¹ being my Curate I do give Ten pounds with a mourning Ring of twenty shillings price. ITEM to Margaret Bennet of Holme I give Twenty pounds and to my servant Thomas firith ten pounds, And to Alice ¹ Afterwards Bishop of Sodor and Man ; he wrote an account of Dr. Sherlock's life.

Pickering forty shillings, in all Thirty two pounds. ITEM I do give to him that shall preach my funerall Sermon two pounds¹ and a mourning Ring of twenty shillings price. To William Ellam Clerk twenty shillings. To Adam Orford Sexstone ten shillings. ITEM I give to Elizabeth Lunt five pounds, And to Ralph Crook five pounds, But to be bestowed upon them at my executors discretion, And to each of my servants that have lived above twelve moneths with mee twenty shillings a piece. ITEM I do desire that Mr Thomas Bennet Attorney in the Exchequer of Chester and Mr Henry Prescott Deputy Register of the Ecclesiasticall Court would distribute the Twenty pounds ordered to the poor of Chester; and that each of them have a Ginney for their pains. ITEM I do order that if the arrears due to mee from Mr Widdowes for the Tythes of Lowton be discharged, That then five pounds shallbe returned thereupon. ITEM it is my will that the remainder of my Estate shall be equally divided to the families of Thomas Sherlock of Winwick, William Sherlock of Oxton in Werrall, Richard Sherlock of Oxford and Samuell Aynsworth my steward for the use of all their respective children, and that each family have its proportion whether the children be more or less. LASTLY I do constitute and ordaine Mr Thomas Crane and my nephew Thomas Wilson my Curates Mr Henry Byrom of Lowton and Christopher Boardman of Risley Executors of this my last will and Testament And do bequeath to each of them five pounds a piece with mourning Rings to each of the four, Besides the charges in the execution of the same. Whereunto I have set my hand and seal the day and year first above written.

(Signed) RICHARD SHERLOCK.²

² This and the other signature are written in a very shaky hand-writing. The Doctor's seal bears a chevron between three fleurs-de-lis. The inventory filed with the will is an interesting document.

Signed sealed and Published in the presence of us. Jonah Cropper, Peter Eden, John Gerard.

WHEREAS it is expressed in my will that my godson John Sherlock the son of Thomas Sherlock shall succeed his ffather in Hunts house and that the lease of the said house be renewed. It is HEREBY further declared, and my will also is, That the lease for the Cottage that was formerly called Taylors house in Oxton now in the hands and occupation of my nephew Thomas Sherlock for the sole use of my godson John Sherlock be also renewed To and for the sole benefit of the said John Sherlock my godson. Unto which I have set my hand and seal, and caused this to be annexed as a Codicell to this my last will the eighteenth day of June Anno Domini 1689.

the lesser sort of Pewter Dishes on the Shelf over Dresser the frying pan half dozen of chaiers where she pleases, the Bedstocks in the parlour with a feather bed Bolsters Blankets a good Quilt and two pair of good sheets the Curtains belonging to it, a Book called the History of the Bible with Cuts with a great many other Books

¹ The testator appears to have been a native of Mottram in Longdendale, in the county of Chester, where the name of Tetlaw is still commemorated by a farm called Tetlaw Fold. (See East Cheshire, vol. ii. p. 160.) This Will is of interest, as showing what were the books in use by a country minister in the middle of the last century.

mentioned in the Seedule belonging to this will The Toasting Iron the large Skellet my table in my Closset with Drawers in Little Coffe in my wife's Closet the Glass Book Box in Parlour I give Ann the little Table in Dining Room the Little Bed in my chamber with all things belonging to it and with Looking Glass in House these last from "I give," I give to my Daughter Ann. Item &c. to my dau^r Ann the Bedstocks in the best chamber with the Curtains Feather bed Blankets Quilt and Chast bed with two pair of sheets the Warming pan, the Spits and Gobarts the Pik'd Toasting Iron, the Oval Table in Parlour, the Table in Little Chamber the Calamanco Chair with Cushion belonging to it all my Wife's Wax work with the other Book Case in the Parlour with all the Chairs in best Chamber and half a dozen in the Parlour and eight or ten maps and the rest of the Maps I give to my dau^r Mary Bispham. To Ann a considerable parcel of very good books mentioned &c. and [I] desire all my children to take special care of them that none be lost nor abused. I give her the Tea Kettle the Cheany cups Coffee can and cups belonging to it, the largest pewter dish on the lower Shelf, Sall another of them, Pegge another of them and Mally another of them. I give her the pair of Bellows in House the best Lanthorn Sifting tub and Train ware in Maid's chamber with the Bottle Crate in Garden, Side Saddle Pillion and Cloth and Chester Drawers in the best Chamber. Item to my son Thomas if alive my Rapier and Belt belonging to it, my Gun with all Flaskets my silver seal my silver Romer with a parcel of valuable good books &c. with the larg Looking Glass in Parlour, that Fire Shovel and Tongs w^{ch} hang over Fire in House, half Dozen of the Worser Pewter Plates my cloath press in my wife's closet But considering what great things I have done for him and how much money he hath cost me one way and another he shall have none of the money that I leave but some small legacy from it, the Legacy left him by my ffather in Law I have paid him as the Receipt will manifest. Item to my dau^r Sarah Machin to be her dau^{rs} Legacy from me the Chest of Drawers standing in Chamber near door w^{ch} were bought at Manchester one of the Boxs Cases in my Chamber to lay her books in the other Book Case there I give to my dau^r Mary Bispham to lay &c. Item to my dau^r Margaret Webster to be her dau^{rs} Legacy from me the fine Cloth Press in Little Chamber, the Book Case there, the Iron Dripping pan the Large Coffe in my chamber and half dozen of Chairs if there be so many left either below Stairs or above the Bedstocks in Little Chamber Curtains Rods Feather Bed Blankets Sheets Quilt with little Long Table in my Closet that I write upon the little Fire Iron in my chamber and the large Table in Dining Room. Item to my d^r Mary Bispham my lead in Garden and Silver Clasps for a Bible and two Silver Anchors and Silver Tongues for to make her a pair of Buckles with, the silver chain and the chain and the key for watch, they are all folded up in a paper in my Drawer Table I write on, there are two keys. To her son W^m my desk in Chamber where I lye and to her and to her husband my watch till their son [be] brought up a Scholar and to the Ministry then he shall have it. Item considering I have done so much for my son Thomas &c. I leave him 10^s and a handsom parcel of good Books to keep and improve for my sake. As to my d^r Marg^t Webster and Sarah Machin if their husbands sh^d dye before them they will be left in poor circumstances &c. I desire my E^xors &c. to put it [the money testator left them] out to use and give the interest to my two d^{rs} Marg^t and Sarah &c. and sh^d their pressing necessities require it to give them some part of the Stock and sh^d any be left [at their death] let it be equally divided amongst the children. But W^m Webster and George Machin shall not receive either Stock or interest, but it shall be employed for the good of my two d^{rs} and their children. Both W^m and George have rec^d the Legacies left them by their Grandfather to their wives with more than was left them &c. however I leave to W^m and George 2^s 6^d apiece to cutt them off from all claims as to money matters hereafter. Item as to £100 left me by my fatherinlaw Samuel Dickenson &c. w^{ch} my brōr in Law John Dickenson has p^d the Interest every year and whom I look upon to be a very honest Man and will take special care that none of it be lost &c. Item I give £20 of that money to John and Mally Bispham upon condi^{ti}on that they bring up one of their children to be a Scholar and to the Ministry. Itm. £20 and £20 more of that money to my d^{rs} Marg^t and Sarah. Item £20 to my d^r Ann and £20 more to my d^r Hannah Tetlaw. Item as to my pew in New Chapel w^{ch} cost me £6 and is mine to dispose of and give to whom I please as justly as any person in the New Chapel can dispose of theirs unless the succeeding Minister give £4 for it he shall not have it nor shall any of his ffamily sit in it, But I give it to John Bispham and Mally and desire that he and Mally and his Family and my d^r Hannah will sit in it. As to fire Iron in the House two pair of Tongues, the ffire Potter Fender and one Crow the Coach chair and cushion and board before it, the Clock and Case and Dresser probably the succeeding Minister will buy them [if not his sons in law to divide the money amongst themselves.] Item as to my little Yates and Doors about our House w^{ch} are of my own cost and my Harrow Treas Coller Pale Stones about Garden and Malt Mill Coffe in Gallery Grindle Stone, great Coffe in Kitchen Sadles Bridles Paquet boards in House and Barn Barrels Tubs brewing Vessels and all my Shelves in House &c. probably the succeeding Minister will buy them for the[y] fit the places and he cannot do well without them, I give them to John Bispham, W^m Webster and George Machin. Item as Stones about Garden Beds, the Washing Stone in Kitchen &c. my d^{rs} to divide amongst themselves. Item no hatbands or Gloves shall be given at my funeral to any Minister or relation, instead of that I have ordered valuable books to be given to my children, to Ministers and to my hearers w^{ch} I hope will make a good use of them (as by codicil &c.) w^{ch} I esteem vastly preferable to Hatbands and Gloves. Item my watch with Silver chain and two keys I give to my d^r Mally Bispham and John Bispham to keep safely for her son that is brought up to the Ministry, and when he enters upon it he shall have it, but not before, John Bispham to wear it carefully in his pocket for that will do better for it than lying by, but not to lend it. PART II.

IN the Introduction to the "Index to the Wills and Inventories now preserved in the Court of Probate at Chester from A.D. 1545 to 1620," printed by the Record Society in 1879, I pointed out (pp. xxvii., xxviii.), that the Rev. J. Piccope and his son the Rev. G. J. Piccope, examined a great number of the Wills at Chester, and made either full copies or short abstracts of them. All the full copies, which they made, have now been printed, either in the three volumes published by this Society in 1854, 1860, 1861, or in Part I. of this book,¹ but when the volume of their MSS. (vol. 10) containing the short abstracts was examined, it was found that many of the original wills, which they had consulted, were not now to be found at Chester. How this has occurred is difficult to say, but it is possible that in removing the wills from one place to another, those which were in a mutilated condition, as many of these seem to have been, were put on one side and either lost or destroyed. A list of the "Wills examined by the Revs. J. and G. J. Piccope, and since lost or destroyed," between the years 1545 and 1620, was printed in the volume above referred to (pp. xxviii.—xxxii.), and another list of those between 1621 and 1650 appeared in the Index to the Chester wills for that period, printed in 1881. When it was decided by the Council of this Society to print the transcripts which appear in this volume, it was also arranged that the abstracts of these missing wills should also be printed. Short as most of them are, they are of great genealogical value, as they are the only records of these wills which we now possess, and it was especially important to print them, lest by some unfortunate accident they too should disappear, like the originals from which they were made.

It is only right to point out that since the list of these missing wills was printed, I have accidentally ascertained, by searches at Chester, that a few of them are still to be found in the Probate Court there. Thus, the Will of "William Ashton [son of Arthur Ashton] of Rochdale, gentleman, 1602," is at Chester, wrongly indexed as the will of Arthur Ashton, 1602. The Will of "Gilbert Astley, clerk, 1620," is indexed under 1626, the year in which it was proved; the name read as "Suarte" should be "Snarte," and so on. But taken altogether, the wills so recovered only amount to about 12, out of nearly 200, and I have been enabled to add abstracts of 3 or 4 other wills, which I find are also now missing. It is possible that others in this list may from time to time be found at Chester, but it is not likely that many will be so discovered.

The abstracts which here follow are arranged alphabetically, first, those between 1545 and 1620, and secondly, those between 1621 and 1650, following the order of the two lists given in the two volumes of Indices to the Wills at Chester between those periods, printed by the Record Society. The Fortieth Report

OF THE

COUNCIL OF THE CHETHAM SOCIETY,

Read at the Annual Meeting, held by permission of the Feoffees, in the Audit Room of Chetham's Hospital, on Friday, the 30th day of March, 1883, by adjournment from the 1st.

THE Council regret that during the past year only one volume has been issued, viz., part ii. of The Visitation of Lancashire and part of Cheshire in 1533, by commission from Thomas Benalt, Clarencieux, forming vol. cx. This volume has been annotated with his usual accuracy by the editor, the late Mr. WILLIAM LANGTON; and Mr. J. P. EARWAKER completed the annotation of the last six Lancashire pedigrees. Prefixed to the volume is a memoir of Mr. Langton, and a medallion portrait presented by Mr. HEREERT PHILIPS. The chief pedigrees in this Visitation are those of Stanley of Cross-hall, Faryngton of Faryngton, Hesketh of Rufford, More of the Bank-house, and Leygh of Bradley. There seems to have been a disposition on the part of some of the gentlemen concerned to despise Clarencieux's mission, for the herald records of Bradshaw of the Ha (Haigh) that he was not at home, and of two others, "I spake not withal." The Visitation belongs to the close of the career of Benalt, who was a man of great mark, and had been engaged in stirring incidents. He is said to have been a foreigner; but at one time of his life he was "Bayly" of Boston in Lincolnshire, and as such presented to the Guild of B. V. Mary in that town a mantle of red and purple velvet with the arms of England thereon. Entering Heralds' College, he ultimately (1511) became Clarencieux; and Henry VIII., who was attached to him, gave him many offices of emolument, and employed him in delicate missions to Scotland and the Continent, which he discharged with discretion. He was selected to proclaim at the principal European Courts the jousts which were to be held on the Field of the Cloth of Gold; and he, with Guienne, King-at-Arms for France, was sent by Wolsey to defy the Emperor Charles,—a mission he accomplished at Blois in that monarch's great hall, in the siege royal, before all the nobles and gentlemen of the court, 22 January, 1528. Benalt died 8 May, 1534, and was buried at Gt. St. Helen's, Bishopsgate-street, in which parish he resided when at home.

The volumes of the old series already due for the years 1881 and 1882 are in the following state :

(a) Mr. CORSER'S Collectanea Anglo-Poetica, part xi., is printed up to page 440. Its issue has been delayed on account of the preparation of the Index to the complete work of eleven parts. This task has been committed to Mr. T. N. MORTON of Liverpool, who has had experience in compiling indexes; and he has already made considerable progress. It is computed that this concluding part, including the index, will occupy upwards of 200 pages. The articles comprised in the present part extend from Ward to Zouche; comprising notices of Warner, Warren, Wastell, Watson, West, Whetstone, Whitney (the Cheshire emblem poet), Williams, Willymat, Wither, Wortley, Wyrley and Yates. Appended to this volume is a list of the prices at which the volumes in the Corser library were sold; and a memoir and engraved portrait of Mr. Corser are also given.

(b) The Compotus of Henry de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, respecting his lands in Lancashire and Cheshire, A.D. 1207, is printed off as far as page 176. It is expected that the Editor, the Rev. P. A. LYONS, will shortly complete it.

(c) The Inventories of Goods in the Churches and Chapels of Lancashire, A.D. 1552. Edited by Mr. JOHN E. BAILEY. The Inventories for West Derby Hundred are printed off or are in type; and there only remains the northern hundreds, to which the Editor is now giving his attention.

(d) The Diary and Correspondence of Dr. John Worthington, vol. ii. part ii., concluding the work. Mr. CROSSLEY'S engagements during the past year have prevented him from completing the copy for the press; but he hopes to be able shortly to give his undivided attention to it.

(e) General Index to Vols. XXXI. to the end of the first Series; (excluding Mr. Corser's Anglo-Poetica, separately indexed). In two vols. During the year the subject of the General Index to these 73 vols. has been under the consideration of the Council. It was found necessary (1) to prepare 24 separate Indexes (as full as those in Gastrell's Notitia, or Worthington's Diary) to volumes which were issued without these important appendages, and (2) to have fuller indexes made to 26 volumes only partially indexed. When these two portions of the labour are accomplished, the whole of the 73 indexes will be combined under a single alphabet, on the plan adopted in the last index, compiled exactly 20 years ago by the late Mr. C. Simms. The work has been placed in the hands of Mr. W. E. A. Axon, from whom an accurate and complete Index may be expected. He has been busy with it since last November, and expects to complete it within the year. These two volumes will thus complete the Old Series.

For the New Series, beginning with the year 1882-3, the following volumes have been put in hand :

I. The first to be issued will be a volume taken from the Raines MSS. entitled The Vicars of Rochdale, now in the press, under the care of Mr. H. H. HOWARTH. Canon Raines's collections on the earlier Vicars were, it was found, mere notes, and Mr. Howarth has amplified them as far as possible from other volumes of the Raines MSS. and elsewhere. The notices of the Vicars comprise much original information ; they include the Puritan Midgeleys, Bishop Tilson, Robert Bath ; Dr. Dunster, whose prose fell under the lash of Swift ; Tunstall, whose name recalls Conyers Middleton and the Ciceronian Controversy ; Dr. Forster, perhaps less remembered as an eminent scholar and the Chaplain of Bishop Butler than by Collier's epigram ; with the other dignified occupants of the benefice, up to the time of Vicar Hay, who presented Canon Raines to Milnrow.

II. Another volume, from the same source, and also in the press, is entitled The Rectors and Wardens of Manchester. The Wardens, beginning with Huntingdon and ending with Dean Herbert, include the names of some noteworthy ecclesiastics, and their memoirs have been drawn up by Canon Raines with special care, and form a most interesting series. This volume will be edited by Mr. JAMES CROSSLEY and Mr. J. E. BAILEY.

III. The third volume will either be An account of the Old Church and School Libraries of Lancashire and Cheshire, with bibliographical and other illustrations, by Mr. R. C. CHRISTIE, Chancellor of the diocese of Manchester ; or The Statutes of Chester Cathedral, 4 June, 1544, with Historical and Illustrative Notes, by the very Rev. Dr. HOWSON, Dean of Chester.

The Council have also in view the publication of volumes on the following subjects :

The Common-Place Book of John Byrom, including his Journal and Letters, for the years 1730-1.

The Accounts of the Constables of Manchester, 1613-47, and 1742-80.

A Volume of Lancashire and Cheshire Wills.

A History of Poulton-le-Fylde.

A Selection from Canon Raines's Literary and Antiquarian Correspondence.

The Coucher Book of Furness Abbey.
